medical record-based eMERGE network to establish the importance of hypertension in predicting early atherosclerosis and arterial stiffness in type 2 diabetes mellitus. Data on 10,220 type 2 diabetes mellitus patients across 11 clinical centers in the eMERGE network were evaluated for associations between baseline characteristics, common in early atherosclerosis (including carotid intima-media thickness, plaques and flow-mediated dilatation) and arterial stiffness (including pulse wave velocity, augmentation index, and wave reflection) and baseline hypertension (defined by diastolic blood pressure >90 mmHg or systolic blood pressure >140 mmHg).
