Everything you'll need to know about 'Baby's First Bite' The first 'bite' in babyhood is the natal suck, when a newborn sucks its mother's breast in an attempt to gain her milk. But can you remember what the very first bite was like? After the second or third month the baby will eat only solid foods and will get more hungry when it is offered a meal. The child's first 'meal' is usually from 5 to 6 months. Baby's First Bite is a British television programme that shows viewers a range of baby-naming and feeding sessions from the first months of a baby'
